

Identity & Foundation

The power of “together”

KALLIERGON syn was born from the meeting of people with different paths and a shared belief in collaboration as a creative, social, and cultural act. It is a living organism of thought and action, where art, science, and the environment engage in meaningful dialogue, placing the human being and their relationship with place and time at the center.

People & Interdisciplinarity

Where fields meet

The collaboration between Christina Tzialla (theatre scholar, performing arts artist, and playwright) and Vasiliki Kateri (visual artist) is substantially enriched by the participation of Sakis (Athanasios) Zaravelas (MD, PhD, orthopedic surgeon) and Rania (Ourania) Tzialla (PhD, MSc, materials engineer).

This composition forms an interdisciplinary field in which knowledge, experience, and creation coexist, generating work with cultural, social, and environmental impact.

Vision & Action

What we do and why

At the core of KALLIERGON syn lies the design and implementation of cultural actions and innovative initiatives that promote cultural exchange, education, embodied experience, and active dialogue with contemporary social and environmental issues. Guided by the principle that strength lies in unity, we transform challenges into opportunities for meaningful collective action.

Way of Working

Collaboration as a way of life

KALLIERGON syn evolves step by step, following the natural flow of circumstances and seeking harmony with place, time, and both urban and natural landscapes. Our framework is grounded in collaboration, transparency, and consistency between words and actions, fostering meaningful experiences and long-term partnerships in Greece and internationally.

Name & Symbol

Kallos and Ergon

The name KALLIERGON is a contemporary neologism combining the concepts of kallos (aesthetic value and cultivated beauty) and ergon (work and action), pointing to the cultivation of spirit, aesthetics, and practice.

The spiral of the logo symbolizes movement, evolution, and continuous search, elements intrinsically linked to life, creation, and collective experience.

“Together”

The syn

Syn encapsulates the core of our philosophy: togetherness. The togetherness of collaboration, mutual support, and collective creation. Because only together can we cultivate the present and shape a better future.
